October 15, 2010 – Photo Contest Winner Announced!

Naval Company Inc is pleased to announce that the 2010 Photo Contest “WINNER” is Arizona Hiking Shack aka “AHS Rescue.” They won with a fabulous short video of the Bridger Line Throwing Gun in action which is now posted on YouTube for your viewing!

Naval Company Inc is pleased to be associated with AHS Rescue, a Bridger Line Throwing Gun dealer, and wants to sincerely thank those involved in making this short video. We understand the shot distance was shorter than usual but appreciate that it made the line very visible for the video. The trade-off was worth it!

We would like to share a little bit about AHS, taken from their website: “Since 1972, the Arizona Hiking Shack, aka “The Shack”, has been catering to the needs of the serious hiker, backpacker, river runner, climber, and mountaineer by providing the best equipment available and technical knowledge gained through years of practical experience in the field. Our reputation of extraordinary service and technical expertise led to strong relationships with many public safety agencies. Through them, Dale Stewart became closely associated with a movement of a few progressive and innovative professionals that believed their resources were capable of doing more to protect the public with respect to technical rescue. As an instructor and consultant Dale played an important role in helping these visionaries design and build their technical rescue assets into some of the best in the country.”
